

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A system and method for maintenance management in which data relating to maintenance usage and maintenance-related policies and practices is collected in an automated data processing device. The data is analyzed to arrive at a diagnosis of maintenance management effectiveness from which recommendations for improving the maintenance management effectiveness are generated.